

Exodus 14:14 "The Lord will fight for you; you need only to be still."

Praise you, Father, for you are faithful. When I want to impatiently jump in and do everything myself, when I want to respond to a situation inappropriately, when I get the WHAT ABOUT ME(s), when I begin to feel overwhelmed and can't see the light at the end of the tunnel.....

Help me to be still today and find you.....for you promise me in your Word....."You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart." [Jeremiah 29:13].

Thank you for that promise.....thank you for seeing my day through my eyes and understanding. Thank you, my Father, for fighting my battles for me.....when I am willing to "only be still."

Ladies, may we all have a day today.....where we stop.....seek Him with all our heart.....and truly hear him. Let go.....Let Him fight for you.....let Him see you through your day today.....He sees the bumps ahead in your road before you even come around the curve.

Have a day blessed by the knowledge that you have the Creator of every single thing surrounding you in this magnificent universe.....watching you and just waiting for the invitation to step beside you as you travel through whatever this day brings your way.

Love,
Kathy
